Allies' Front Line Edging Forward

Next Heavy Blow Of Communists Expected In Central Korea Area

TOKYO (Saturday) — (AP)—Allied forces edged their front line back north in west-central Korea Friday for the first time since the reds' big spring offensive ground to a halt.

There also was evidence of some enemy withdrawals in central Korea, where the next heavy communist blow is expected.

AP Correspondent John Randolph reported that allied troops along the Pukhan river re-occupied unopposed part of a deep no-man's-land northeast of Seoul.

A clash with 7,000 reds north-west of Seoul was the most solid contact of allied troops along the 120-mile Korean front. The allied attackers broke off the fight at dusk and returned to their lines.

With more than a half-million men still available to them, the reds again were slowly building strength in the hills north of Seoul and in the rugged central mountain country north of Chunchon.

Despite muddy roads and sodden skies, allied tanks and infantry roamed north of their lines.

For the third straight day, they raided Uijongbu, 11 miles north of Seoul. Small pockets of red resistance east and west of the old Korean capital also were smashed.

The top allied commander expressed complete confidence that the communists have no chance of winning their war of aggression in Korea.

Returning to Tokyo from his third trip to the front, Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway said the conflict would last as long as the reds were willing "to pay the bloody price they have been paying."

Gen. Ridgway has been fighting a war of maneuver in Korea, not a war of fixed positions. He is not expected to wait in present defensive positions until the foe has time to regroup and re-supply the battered communist assault divisions.

Only One Uncertainty

Ridgway declared, "The only uncertainty I find anywhere... is how long those fellows (the reds) are going to put up with the empty communist promises to throw us out of Korea and destroy the U. S. army."

"So far, the only things they've succeeded in destroying are a few tens of thousands more of their own men... Maybe some day these people who are being used as cannon fodder will wake up and listen to reason."

Communist casualties are estimated in excess of 80,000 since April 22. About 1,815 more were killed or wounded Thursday.

AP Correspondent John Randolph said field commanders did not believe the reds would make a serious new attempt for a Seoul breakthrough.

Instead, Randolph said allied commanders believed the bulk of the red forces were shifting to the central front for resumption of the main offensive.

Local Youth Is Wounded In Korea

...Charles Bliss

A 19-year-old Lincolnite has been wounded in action in the Korean war.

He is Pfc. Charles R. Bliss, son of Mrs. Laverne Bliss, 810 South Twelfth street, and C. J. Bliss.

Mrs. Bliss was notified in a

letter from her son, a BAR man with the Seventh infantry division, that he had been wounded. The letter was postmarked April 28.

In the letter, Pfc. Bliss said he had received a bullet in the back and was in the Fourth field hospital in Taegu.

He gave no further details of the circumstances, but added that the bullet "never hit my spine or anything important so I'm alright."

Pfc. Bliss, who attended Lincoln and Cathedral high schools, enlisted in the army in April, 1950, and has been in Korea since September, 1950.

Labor Being Wasted, Welfare Meet Told

Claims Poor Living Conditions Decrease Incentive And Ability

Speaking before the Nebraska Welfare association Friday night, Dr. Allison Davis, professor of education at the University of Chicago, charged that the United States is wasting its potential labor supply by not providing adequate living conditions.

The present and future security of the United States, often defined as the welfare of the people, explained by Davis in terms of improved housing, medical care and increased opportunity for lower socio-economic group.

"At least one third of the economic and defense potential in the United States," he said, "is lacking in adequate facilities of housing and medical care, which decreases the incentive and ability of the people in that group."

Dr. Davis, using as an example Chicago's slums and generally poor standards among lower economic groups, told the state welfare workers the need to understand economic groups to understand the drives of incentives.

"The right or wrong side of the tracks aren't fictions," he said, "because they actually exist, and though 'we are taught otherwise, there do exist strata of social separations.'"

He emphasized the need of realizing that slum individuals respond to a reality and not in accord with their environment. In much the same manner, he said, children in lower classes do not learn the drives of incentives of what are called higher class standards.

Backgrounding his talk with a case history of a Chicago slum family, Dr. Davis said the lower economic groups, "living in a dingy, twilight world" spent the majority of their efforts for survival.

"The shocks of fortune and the drain of illness" block the efforts of these people, he said, for maintaining or even establishing a better standard of existence.

"The marks of slum environments," he explained, even leave themselves "on the bones of the children."

Dr. Davis emphasized that it is wrong to judge members of a less privileged economic group by standards which they cannot meet.

And by not aiding these groups, he said, they consequently are deprived of the prime incentive to achieve and to work for higher standards.

Public Housing Needed
Dr. Davis after his talk told The Star that providing better living conditions in effect meant government-sponsored public housing.

Dr. Steven Watkins, superintendent of Lincoln schools, introduced the guest speaker, Rev. A. H. Brinkgatt, president of the Nebraska Welfare association, presided at the dinner meeting that brought to an end the second day of the state convention.

Morning speakers were Dr. Edward C. Lindeman, professor emeritus of social philosophy, New York school of social work; Dr. Otto G. Hoiberg, supervisor of community services extension division at University of Nebraska; Dr. Frank Glick, director of the school of social work, U. of N. Mrs. H. Monsky, Omaha, vice president board of the community.

Man Admits His Guilt In Burning-Off Son's Finger

Eddie Gesrieck, 33, accused of burning-off the tip of his seven-year-old stepson's finger to teach him not to play with matches, pleaded guilty Friday afternoon to a charge of cruelty to a child.

Municipal Judge Edward C. Fisher took the case under advisement until 10 a. m. Saturday in order to decide on a possible sentence.

Gesrieck was arrested and arraigned Friday after Police-woman Hulda Stahnke took the child, Ralph Kem, to Deputy County Attorney Herbert Ronin's office to display the burned finger.

The boy was burned the evening of April 27 and went without medical aid until Friday, when Miss Stahnke took him to city-county health for treatment.

"I didn't realize I'd get in so much trouble or I wouldn't have done it," said the defendant. He told Judge Fisher that the boy had been playing with matches in their apartment bathroom and that, "I wanted to teach him a lesson."

Policewoman Stahnke testified that the flame had "burned off a corner of the boy's finger."

Gesrieck told the court that he held the boys hand, lit a match and "crossed it back and forth under his nails."

"I didn't realize I burned him as bad as I did," he said.

A police tip led to the father's arrest and the investigation.

Cruelty to a child is a misdemeanor in Nebraska and the defendant faces a maximum sentence of a $100 fine and three months in jail.

Gesrieck, who also has a 5-year-old son and a 3-year-old daughter, told Judge Fisher that he loved all his children and that "I don't abuse them."

He described his stepson as "awfully wild" and disobedient. "The others mind fine," Gesrieck said.

Maybe his love and fatherly attention he needs," said Judge Fisher shortly before taking the case under advisement.

Gesrieck, his face covered with a heavy stubble, appeared in court in his work clothes since he was picked up while at work.

His son, middle finger bandaged, was returned to his mother. She did not appear in court.

Doug Implies Secretary Would Barter With Island

Says Cabinet Member Disregarded Recommendations Of Joint Chiefs

BY DON WHITEHEAD

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur declared Friday he understood Secretary of Defense Marshall was willing to discuss giving major concessions to the Chinese reds as the basis for peace treaty.

He declared Marshall took the stand that a peace conference might well take up the questions of turning over the island of Formosa to communist China and granting the reds a seat in the United Nations.

The ousted Far East commander also implied that the U. S. joint chiefs of staff, headed by Gen. Omar Bradley, might sometimes be subject to "pressure."

He said he would accept their judgments on such issues as the size of the country's military forces, for example, if their opinion was "a strictly professional one, without any currents of obligation or pressure from anything else."

Talks Seven Hours

The 71-year-old soldier, deposited from his commands by President Truman, spent a second day of more than seven hours upholding and explaining his views before the senate armed services and foreign relations committees.

At the end, fresher than most of the 26 senators who sat in judgment on his case, he wanted to continue. But the committees decided to recess and hear him again starting at 8:30 a. m. (CST) Saturday.

He vehemently opposed letting Formosa fall into red hands, declaring that in hostile possession it would "breach completely" this country's Pacific defense line.

Other high points of his testimony:

1. He is "very definitely convinced, that Russia conspired with red China and North Korea to launch the invasion of South Korea."

2. But war with Russia is "not inevitable."

3. In his public pronouncements before his ouster, he did not feel bound by "gag rule" because the American people "are entitled to certain basic facts when it involves the lives of their sons."

4. He believes his ouster by President Truman for publicly disagreeing with administration policy was "the judgment of one individual"—presumably meaning the president.

Under a barrage of sometimes critical questions, MacArthur steadfastly stuck to his proposals for stronger measures against red China—a blockade of the Chinese coast, aerial action over Manchuria and the use of Chiang Kai-shek's nationalists now on Formosa.

After relating his understanding of Secretary Marshall's stand on Formosa and a U.N. seat for China, MacArthur declared he did not know the position of the government on these issues—presumably meaning the position of President Truman.

Referring to his dismissal by the president, MacArthur said: "I do not challenge it in the slightest degree directly or indirectly. It was the judgment of one individual."

He said he had been "completely unaware" of any insubordination that would justify his dismissal.

Acheson Not Blamed

There have been reports that Secretary Marshall and the joint chiefs of staff were in agreement with Mr. Truman on the ouster move. And some republicans have said Secretary of State Acheson was involved in the decision.

But Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark) indicated that Acheson opposed MacArthur's dismissal. The senator asked the general if he would be surprised to know "that the secretary of state in fact opposed your recall vigorously in discussions at the highest level."

MacArthur replied he had never met Acheson and that he never had blamed the secretary for his dismissal.

He gave these views after telling the senators the reported stand Marshall had taken on a possible Korean peace treaty.

He said he understands Secretary Marshall has vetoed a recommendation by the joint chiefs of staff that Korean peace talks "should specifically not include the recognition of any seating of red China in the United Nations or a consideration of turning over Formosa" to China.

Referring to the joint chiefs' recommendation, MacArthur added:

"It was, I understand, in those two particulars, disapproved by the secretary of defense, who said that he believed that those two items might well be considered at the conference—the peace conference."

MacArthur said: "The recommendations of the joint chiefs of staff went to the secretary of defense. The secretary of defense forwarded their recommendations as I understand it to the secretary of state, but disagreed with them on those two points."

New Salt Creek Channel Site Suggested By District

A different site for the proposed new Salt creek channel running between Tenth and Fourteenth was suggested to Sanitary District No. 1 Friday.

The suggestion came in a detailed engineering plan submitted to the district's board by Earl Luff and H. V. Martin. The plan is an alternate proposal of the district plan for improvement of the channel.

While details of the new plan were not made public Luff said their idea would be to run the new channel just slightly northwest of the present channel. The location of the new Fourteenth street bridge, he said, would thus remain where it is while the district's sewer system and the fair grounds dairy barn would be protected.

Luff said his group's plan called for a complete re-study of the channel situation. Earl L. Myers, engineer who prepared the plan, pointed out that if the channel had been given the proper depth and obstructive bridges corrected there would have been no flood in Lincoln last year.

On of the drawings in the plan showed both the P street and Union Pacific flood bridges to be below last year's flood level.

The plan was presented after the board, at its meeting two weeks ago, instructed a group of 19 taxpayers protesting the district's channel plan to have their views written up for this Friday's meeting.

Bids had already been received by the district for the $50,000 channel digging project when the petition in protest was submitted. All bids were then withdrawn when the board decided to honor the petitioner's request that the job be delayed for further study.

The board took no action Friday on the plan presented by Luff as board members needed time to study it.

Claim 19,000 In Sub-Standard Schools

Nearly 19,000 Nebraska children are now attending sub-standard schools, and studying in over-crowded classrooms, according to Floyd Parker of the state department of public instruction.

Parker spoke at a dinner meeting at the Y. M. C. A. for members of the N.S.E.A., committee on improvement of instruction. The dinner-meeting was held in the Y.M.C.A.

Reporting on the results of a recent survey of town and city schools in the state taken by his department in co-operation with the U. S. office of education, Parker said a need was found for at least 750 new classrooms.

In addition, the state schools need about 50 gymnasiums and auditoriums, and 75 multi-purpose rooms for elementary schools which would cost about $30,000,000, he said.

Dr. Marie Stoneman of the University of Nebraska Teachers College, reported to the committee that the present state of Nebraska schools has "improved considerably" in the past few years.

FLOYD PARKER

There are probably more school building programs in progress today than there have been since the early twenties, Dr. Stoneman pointed out.

Stoneman explained the work of the co operative school building survey program conducted by the school division of the state department and the University of Nebraska.

Donald Bush, assistant supervisor of the school building service, showed colored slides of new school construction throughout the state.

The Friday night meeting was held in conjunction with the two-day joint meeting of the N.S.E.A. committee with the staff of the department of public instruction. Saturday morning sessions in the state capital will include discussions of teacher certification and school legislation. Aviation education in Nebraska schools will be discussed in afternoon sessions in the student union.

Nebraska Wesleyan university May Day festivities were climaxed Friday by the crowning of the May Queen and Student Prince and the tapping of 15 new members to Blue Key and Cardinal Key, men's and women's senior honorary societies.

Another high spot was the announcement of the winner of the annual Woman's Athletic association poetry contest.

Other features of the annual celebration were the traditional intra-fraternity and intra-sorority sings in the afternoon and the May Pole dance preceding the procession, which wound its way through the campus to the twin thrones for the king and queen in front of the administration building.

Big Buildings Come Under Tight Control

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The government Friday slapped building controls on "luxury" homes—dwellings costing over $35,000—and on big apartment houses, major factories and public buildings.

The national production authority decreed that these structures may not be started without its specific approval. The order is effective at once.

Industrial structures and public projects fall under NPA's control when more than 25 tons of steel are used. This extends the government's construction regulations over such projects as:

Schools Included
Schools, churches, hospitals, highways, bridges, water and sewer systems, pipe lines, public utility and railroad construction.

Newspaper plants and radio and television broadcasting buildings, previously exempt from the restraints imposed in January on all commercial building construction, now will need NPA authorization regardless of the steel tonnage used.

The order was NPA's first direct control applied to residential construction. Previous restraints have been indirect—such as the credit controls governing down payments and mortgage terms.

'Luxury' Homes Hit
As of Friday, however, NPA permission must be obtained to start any single-family residence when the estimated cost exceeds $35,000.

The same is true for any apartment structure in excess of three stories and basement.

Construction of advertising signs is prohibited, but this ban does not apply to signs costing less than $5,000.

The "growing critical shortage of structural steel and the requirements of defense and defense-supporting industries are the reasons for the sweeping order," NPA Administrator Manly Fleischmann said.

"There is just not enough steel to go around," he explained. "We must channel its use to serve all of our essential defense and civilian requirements."

The NPA construction order will not halt work already begun. NPA revised its definition of the "commencement of construction" so that a job will be considered to be under way if substantial work on clearing the site has been done or if existing buildings have been demolished to make way for the new structure.

Broad Authority
Friday's action extends NPA's authority over virtually all types of building.

Schools and hospitals probably also will receive liberal treatment, for Fleischmann said part of the reason for the order was to conserve steel for such "highly essential civilian needs."

Irish Cabinet Split Causes New Elections

DUBLIN, Ireland—(AP)—Bickering within Premier John Costello's government led Friday night to an order dissolving the Dail Eireann (the lower house of Parliament).

A general election—which may return the Brooklyn-born Eamon De Valera to the premiership—was set for May 30.

President Sean T. O'Kelly issued the orders at the request of Costello, who took office in February, 1948. All parties except De Valera's soldiers of destiny (Fianna Fail) were represented in Costello's cabinet.

Alumni Plan New Gym At Wesleyan

To Replace Building Constructed In 1911

About 100 Lincoln alumni of Nebraska Wesleyan university heard deficiencies of the present condemned gymnasium and details of a proposed new structure outlined at a rally dinner at Johnson hall cafeteria Friday night.

The affair was sponsored jointly by Wesleyan officials and the promotion committee of the alumni association which will sponsor the campaign for the new building starting in June.

Dr. Virgil C. Welch, assistant to the chancellor for finance, told something of the history of the present building which was constructed in 1911 with voluntary student labor, strictly as a temporary structure.

Athletic Director Roy B. Robertson told of deficiencies of the present building which couldn't be used to offer a "complete physical education program even if it were safe to use it." Robertson also told of plans for the new building.

Chancellor Carl C. Bracy also spoke briefly telling how alumni could fit into the picture during the drive and E. L. Smith, Lincoln businessman and former president of the board of trustees, thanked the association for "taking the responsibility for spearheading the drive for the new building."

Board President George L. Knight announced that the Lincoln phase of the campaign will begin early in June and urged full and united support of the association.

A Clifford Anderson, president of the Wesleyan alumni association, served as master of ceremonies.

Northeast High Production Of 'Robin Hood' Successful

BY NANCY BENJAMIN (Star Staff Writer)

Northeast high school had the musical talent Friday night to make "Robin Hood," a comic opera by Harry B. Smith and Reginald DeKoven, a success.

In the musical presented at the Northeast high auditorium, outstanding performances were given by the leading characters, Robin Hood (Homer Harrison) and Maid Marian (Jannie Owens), which assured the play of popular audience approval.

It was the Sheriff of Nottingham, played by Bob Furman, that put the comic humor in the otherwise rather dramatic production.

In the plot, Maid Marian is given in marriage to the Earl of Huntington by the king, but trouble develops when Sir Guy of Gisborne announces that he is her rightful husband and is supported by the Sheriff of Nottingham. A happy ending is achieved only when the rightful earl (Robin Hood) is given a pardon from the king for becoming a bandit and all his true rights as Earl of Huntington by the king.

After the first act, the director, Mrs. Dale Snook, was given roses by Homer Harrison from the cast for her help in producing the opera.

With good costuming and excellent scenery to back the actors up, the play ran very smoothly for an opening night performance. Only a few stilted lines marred the otherwise professional appearance.

Not a major character but an important one, Allen-a-Dale, played by Johnny Anderson, gave the type of performance that drew extra applause from the sparse first night crowd.

Other characters are: Sir Guy of Gisborne, Gayle Rosecrans; Little John, Gerald Bitney, understudy, David Brand; Friar Tuck, Dick Podorny; under study, Dick Conard; Alan-a-Dale—Johnny Anderson; under study, Ed Pearce; Dame Durden—Alyce Horton; under study, Rita Lehr; Annabel, Libby Schlegel, understudy, Jo Ann Mohler; "Robin Hood" will be presented again Saturday evening at 8 p.m. in the Northeast high school auditorium.

Orchestrated Dance Concert Marks Its 24th Year

Orchestrated, a university dance club, completed its 24th year as an active campus organization when it presented its spring dance concert Friday night. The club is sponsored by the department of physical education for women and by the women's athletic association.

The first part was given over to three phases of the primitive dance, "response in motion," "rhythms," and "ritual." The second part was "The Saga of Wild Bill (Hickok)," and the last was an interpretation of Tchaikovsky's "Nutcracker Suite."

Orchestra members are Wanda Bott, Rose Brandel, Lorraine Corryell, Marilyn Cropper, Diana Downing, Georgia Hulse, Delores Irwin, Lorne Johannes, Janet Kojker, Jerrie Langlett, Shirley Mahr, Marie Mangold, Doris Newman, Nancy Norman, Marilyn Ogden, Sally Finney and Shirley Ruff.

Pre-Orchestra members: Barbara Bell, Henrietta Hagelberger, Ting Lilly, Marilyn McKie, Sue Neumann, Marlene Oehrie and Peggy Wood.

Bob Peters, Gerald Ramsdell and Dick Sherbert are in the men's dance group. The verse for the "Saga of Wild Bill" was written and narrated by Joan Park.

Plane Crash Kills Mother Of Three

Ideal Weather In Prospect For U. of N. Ivy Day

Weather prospects are favorable for the 50th annual Ivy Day festivities scheduled to begin at 9:15 a.m. Saturday on the University of Nebraska campus.

The event has climaxed student activities of the school year ever since the senior class of 1901 staged a grand march and sang a song called, "Nebraska." Today, Ivy Day boasts three principal features.

First, presentation of the May Queen and her maid-of-honor, senior women chosen by a vote of junior and senior coeds.

Second, a song competition for representatives from women's and men's student houses.

Third, the masking of new Mortar Board members, and new members of the Innocents, student activity honorary societies for senior women and men.

The outdoor event will be held just north of the University Administration building, not far from Twelfth and R streets, and near the site of the first Ivy Day.

Gordon Meet Attracts 100 Landowners

May 15 Deadline For Forming Group

GORDON, Neb.—(AP)—May 15 has been set as the deadline for formation of an organization to sponsor rain-making efforts in the Gordon - Rushville - Hay Springs area.

Some 100 farmers, ranchers and businessmen attended a meeting at the city auditorium at which the cloud-seeding process was explained by C. L. Chipman, field man for the Water Resources Development corporation of Denver.

If the work is approved by a sufficient number to the proposed Northwest Nebraska Water Development corporation composed of Dawes, Sioux and Box Butte counties.

Under Half-way Mark
Landowners or operators are being required to put up a check in the amount of five cents an acre, plus $1 membership fee. If not enough signers are secured, the checks will be returned.

At Chadron, Roy Chicoine, assistant to John Furman who is in charge of the proposal in the Dawes county area, said signers now include some of the biggest landowners and ranchers in the county although the half-way mark had not been reached.

The Water Resources Development corporation some time ago contracted with farmers and ranchers in the southwest Nebraska area around Sidney to carry on the rain-making project this year.

The cloud-seeding is done from the ground by means of silver iodide generators, Chipman explained at the meeting here.

Boy's Death Accidental, Probe Shows

... Lad Strangled

COLUMBUS, Neb.—(AP)—County Attorney Byron Reed of Platte county said that there is no evidence to indicate foul play in connection with the death of James Fusselman.

The nine-year-old boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Fusselman, who live on a farm east of St. Edward, was found strangled to death in a barn. A rope was knotted around the boy's throat and was tied to a rafter overhead.

Reed said evidence in the barn indicated a probable accident. The rope was not long enough to hold the boy's body suspended in the air, and was too short to permit the body to lie on the barn floor.

Reed said the farm home is situated just east of a county line road in Platte county. When the death was first reported, there was some confusion as to whether it took place in Platte or Boone county. When it became definitely known that the farm was in Platte county, Reed went there to investigate the death.

He said the other members of the family were in the house preparing for dinner. When the boy did not show up they went out to look for him and found the body in the barn.

Definite Policy Opposing Price Rollback Urged

OMAHA—(AP)—An "emergency" session of the Corn Belt Feeders association was urged Friday to form a definite policy in opposition to the government's recent beef price rollback. The association represents about 10,000 livestock feeders.

More than 100 officers, directors and members of the committee of the association gathered to hear requests from speakers of seven states to adopt a "get tough" attitude.

Six association officials, who represented their industry in talks with the office of price stabilization, charged Price Administrator Michael DiSalle and President Truman with sacrificing the beef industry for votes.

Fred Scherer of Coleridge, Neb., president of the Nebraska Livestock Feeders association, said DiSalle passed up all the recommendations of the department of agriculture experts in establishing the beef price rollback. He went directly to the White House to get the okay, he added.

Democrats To Fill Vacancy

Chapman Speaker At Banquet Meet

OMAHA—(AP)—Filling a vacancy in its ranks created by the resignation of Mrs. Frank Morrison of McCook will be one of the jobs facing the state democratic executive committee Saturday.

The committee will hold a forenoon meeting in advance of the Jefferson-Jackson dinner Saturday night. The dinner is a traditional democratic party fund-raising event.

Mrs. Morrison, wife of the McCook attorney who unsuccessfully sought the democratic nomination as governor in the primaries last year, quit the executive committee—but not the party—early in April. She said she did so because she feels National Committeeman James C. Quigley of Valentine exercises one-man rule over the party. She said there has been "loss of faith" in the party's Nebraska leadership.

Routine Business
State democratic Chairman William H. Meier of Minden said the executive committee meeting will be routine. Besides filling the vacancy, the committee will approve and pay bills and perform other routine jobs, he said.

He doesn't expect the late forenoon session to last more than two hours.

An "open house" will be held from 2 to 4 p. m., and the executive committee of the state young democrats, headed by Charles Ledwith of Lincoln, will meet at 4 p. m.

Chief speaker at the evening banquet will be Interior Secretary Oscar Chapman.

All events are booked for the Fontenelle hotel.

The executive committee is made up of two members from each of the state's four congressional districts, plus the state party officers. Mrs. Morrison represented the first district. Other district members are Hugh B. Riley of Fairbury, rector of Omaha, Mrs. Blanche Robinson of Ashland, Mrs. Jennie Gjerloff of Marquette, A. C. Larson of Decatur, Mrs. Essie Davis of Hyannis and Edward Nims of Kearney.

State officers who are ex-officio members are Meier, Henry Lay of Wayne, treasurer; Forrest Johnson, Fremont, secretary; Willard Townsend, Lincoln, and Catharine Truman, Omaha, vice chairman; Mr. Quigley, Valentine, national committeeman, and Mrs. Grace Barnore of Lexington, national committeewoman.

Willard Townsend, Lancaster county democratic chairman, said about 80 tickets have been sold in Lincoln for the Jefferson-Jackson dinner.

Omahan Dies In Accident

... Car-Truck Crash

OMAHA—(AP)—Clarence E. Jackman, 59, of Omaha, died at Offutt air force hospital Friday afternoon of injuries suffered a short time earlier in a car-truck crash on Highway 75 south of Offutt air base.

Sarpy County Deputy Sheriff Jack Risor said the collision occurred at a railroad overpass where a highway crew was repairing the pavement.

A truck driven south by George Aboud of Omaha stopped at a barricade protecting the workmen, the deputy said. Aboud's truck was unable to make it through a narrow strip of road left open by the barricade, he added.

Jackman's car, also headed south, crashed into the rear of the truck. The truck was shoved ahead 89 feet and struck a parked state-owned truck, which in turn struck an air compressor, Risor said.

Jackman, sales manager for a granite works, had left home on a brief business trip Friday morning, his wife said.

The death was the 97th resulting from a traffic accident in Nebraska this year.

MacArthur's "Go-It-Alone"

General Douglas MacArthur's bluntness, inherent honesty, and supreme confidence in his own judgment have served this country well in testifying before the senate armed services and foreign relations committees on Far Eastern policy.

The danger was that the hearing would shoot off in a thousand different directions, contributing to greater confusion instead of clarification of the Far Eastern headache. Nothing of the kind has happened in the initial phases of General MacArthur's testimony. He has seen to that. He has put his cards down squarely on the table in plain view of everyone and while his proposals may shock our friends in the United Nations, and those of our friends with troops fighting under the United Nations flag in Korea, at least the public could understand what "MacArthurism" really is.

For want of a better term, it could be described as a brand new vintage of American isolationism. But association of the word "isolationism" with MacArthur is far from accurate because the ousted Pacific commander does not advocate American withdrawal within our own borders—quite to the contrary, he demands aggressive action by this country in the Far East against the Orient's greatest power, communist China—action involving air attacks upon the Chinese mainland, an ultimatum to Peking demanding China's withdrawal from Korea, a broadening of the war in event of Chinese rejection of an ultimatum, and the use of Chiang Kai-shek's soldiers on the Chinese mainland. There is nothing confused about that. It's clear, understandable.

It is also dynamic, in the judgment of America's friends in the United Nations, sufficiently so that the first reaction to General MacArthur's testimony before the senate groups near the close of the week was an unofficial report that the United Nations will withdraw its name, its material support, and whatever prestige it may possess from the Korean battle, if MacArthur prevails.

And what is the answer to that? MacArthur had it. "If the other nations of the world haven't got enough sense to see where appeasement leads after appeasements which led to the second world war in Europe, if they can't see exactly the road they are following in Asia, why then we had better protect ourselves and go it alone." General MacArthur told the senate committees. Red China must be beaten into surrender. And to strengthen his position, General MacArthur insists that China is militarily weak, that, in his judgment, the United States by hitting her potentials would force her to pull out of Korea.

So it is the general's judgment against that of other military leaders constituting the joint chiefs of staff. It is MacArthur against America's allies in Korea, against established policy of the United Nations. It is a little more than that. It is an appeal to the American people to place their trust in him—in his knowledge of the Far East—in a judgment that has become an obsession with him entailing an all-out war against the Chinese communist masses, and finally, MacArthur's disdain for Russia as an ally of communist China. It is, in short, a clearcut proposal, for an all-out war in the Orient against the Chinese communist masses, together with whatever allies they can summon to their side.

The American people should be grateful to General MacArthur for speaking so plainly. Now they know what all the fuss is about. They are enabled to understand why the president relieved him of his commands. Without too great an effort, they should recognize that General MacArthur is ready to go the full mile in disassociating ourselves from the United Nations unless its member countries are willing to follow our leadership against communist China.

That is the choice we are called upon to make. We now know the full meaning of the doctrine of "MacArthurism" as applied to the Orient. It is a big war that is to grow out of a small war. It is a gamble upon alienation of all the Asiatic peoples in exchange for beating Red China into submission. Even that is glossed over lightly. It has been pointed out on innumerable occasions that Japan, only a short distance away, powerful militarily, confronted with no great problems of communication or supply, found a war on the Chinese mainland a fatal stone around the neck.

There is one group in Washington which must have heard General MacArthur's testimony with chattering teeth. That is the bloc in the senate led by Bob Taft, and Nebraska's Ken Wherry. They nearly choked when Senator Cain, of Washington, fitting his actions to his words, offered a war resolution against China. When they were able to speak, they shouted Cain down. Now along comes General MacArthur and in plain language goes one step beyond Senator Cain. He would make "short shift" of communist China. Carry the struggle not only to North Korea, but to Manchuria—turn loose America's air and naval power against the Chinese mainland—its base potentials—which could mean its industrial centers, its railroads and highways, such as they are—and its mobilization points.

There is one strange contradiction in General MacArthur's story to congress. In one breath, he belittles the fighting strength of communist China. It is poorly equipped. It lacks modern weapons to match arms against the United States. What it has is what the nationalist armies under Chiang Kai-shek surrendered to it with scarcely a struggle, plus equipment from Russia. And apparently General MacArthur does not think Russia will fulfill the terms of a friendship treaty with China to the extent of maintaining a steady flow of airplanes, tanks, and other supplies for the inexhaustible reservoir of Chinese manpower. And at the same time, General MacArthur told the senate committees his plea for more troops in Korea and more arms never got attention.

The week closed on a note from the White House to suspend judgment until all the evidence is in. A second note from MacArthur characterized the Truman policy of "appeasement" as an invitation to World War III. The issue is drawn. It is within the province of congress to take General MacArthur at his word and proceed with a war declaration against communist China. But congress will shy away from that one. It is the last thing that Mr. Truman's political critics want. It is the last step that congressional republicans expected would come boldly out into the open. All of the rest is so much window dressing. And the words that will stick longest are contained in MacArthur's demand that if the 14 nations with troops in Korea are not ready to join us against Red China, then we should go it alone.

Had a distinguished military leader launched an offensive against the United Nations? MacArthur can be expected to deny it, but what other interpretation is to be placed upon his words? And if that is true, then are the American people ready to follow "MacArthurism" to the end of the world? He calls for an all-out war on communism in Asia, or wherever it appears, not steps to contain it, but action to beat it into submission. It entails a lot of beating.

The Neighbors Say:

By MONA B. PARKER

With the weatherman holding the deciding hand, there may not be many oats in Nebraska this season . . . but the corn crop, in one form or another, is always assured . . . Mrs. L. D. Tibbets recently unearthed a May 29, 1880 issue of The Falls City Globe-Journal, noted among household hints and recommended as a "sure cure" that half a cranberry bound on a corn will soon kill it . . .

Earl Marvin, of The Beatrice Daily Sun, observing that the Nebraska State Historical Society is searching for sod houses still occupied, feels that the primary reason, perhaps, "may be to locate suitable birthplaces for future statesmen." From sod houses, he merged philosophically into the subject of storm windows and screens. "This annual screen-hanging," the way he sees it, "is a sort of survival from the days when an unscreened house would soon become fly-infested. But how long since you have seen a house fly or a horse fly? There are none . . ." Flying saucers, and now airborne edifices and equines! As far as there being no flies, we suggest simply that Publisher Marvin plan a picnic. The undesirables that show up won't all be relatives . . .

We've often wondered how it was done—and now we know. A little man in a rubber boat will soon start painting the inside of Rushville's new 200,000-gallon water tank. As the water level lowers, he will merrily splash around, covering the interior with a special kind of tasteless, odorless, and preserving paint for metal surfaces.

Much has been said and printed in the pro-and-con department of the MacArthur and Truman rift. For our reading, The Blair Pilot-Tribune came forward with the best story on the local level, Bridge Tollkeeper Ernest Tornblad was startled early Sunday morning at the convoy of official-looking cars bearing down on him, sirens screaming, red lights flashing. He thought it must be the president himself coming—and he wasn't too far wrong. Complete with accompanist, companion, manager and secret service men, daughter Margaret was hurrying from a Sioux City concert to catch a train in Omaha. Tollkeeper Tornblad, The Pilot-Tribune reported, "declined to be quoted as confirming a rumor that, as her car stopped on the bridge, Miss Truman could be heard humming, 'Old Soldiers Never Die; They Just Fade Away!'"

It's A-Small-World Department: Corporal Dean O. Dreger, of Norfolk, now with the 430th Engineers in Korea, was served eggs for breakfast the other morning. The eggs had come from a cold storage company—of Norfolk.

ALADY SENATOR OUTSMARTS WISE 'MR. REPUBLICAN'

By DREW PEARSON

This week Congressman Walter E. Brehm of Ohio was found guilty of taking salary kickbacks from his stenographer. This culminated an expose by Drew Pearson, which began Sept. 26, 1950, when Pearson revealed the congressman's kickbacks. Brehm immediately called Pearson a liar and threatened to sue. Pearson's reply was to print more facts about Brehm's kickbacks—facts that were substantiated by a jury this week.

This follows another Pearson expose which led to a jail sentence for ex-congressman Parnell Thomas of New Jersey.

Incidentally, the only two cases in the entire history of the United States of congressmen going to jail for salary kickbacks have resulted from the reporting of Drew Pearson. In each case, he was called a liar. But he proved his case.

WASHINGTON — They say that women members of congress aren't smart, that they don't measure up in rough-and-tumble debate, don't know the tricks of backstage wire-pulling.

However, it took a lady to outsmart the most powerful republican in the senate—Bob Taft of Ohio.

Last fall, Sen. Margaret Chase Smith, republican of Maine, was bumped off the senate investigating committee. The man who initiated her exit was Senator McCarthy of Wisconsin, who wanted revenge for Mrs. Smith's "declaration of conscience" in which she urged a fair hearing for those recklessly and falsely smeared by McCarthy.

However, Mrs. Smith would not have been dropped from the investigating committee had it not been for Senator Taft's covert support of McCarthy. It was Taft, rather than McCarthy, who really gave the ax to the lady from Maine.

Mrs. Smith had little to say at the time. She smiled sweetly, bided her time, and worked at another committee job investigating the Maryland elections. Several times Senator Taft tried to pour cold water on this Maryland probe, claiming that the election scandals in Maryland were peanuts compared to what happened in Ohio. The elections committee should take a good look at Ohio, he said, if it wanted to unearth real skulduggery.

So Mrs. Smith quietly took Senator Taft at his word. "Senator Taft is quite right," she sweetly told her democratic colleagues on the election subcommittee. "We should investigate the Ohio election."

Such a probe has now been voted, but Taft is simply fit to be tied. Angriely, he told republican leaders that the investigation had not been cleared with him.

Reason for Taft's ire is that any careful investigation of his recent re-election in Ohio would probably embarrass him more than the democrats. It will show, for instance, that he spent far more money than the democrats, and will show a vicious anti-Catholic whispering campaign waged by some of Taft's followers. Though Taft personally had nothing to do with the campaign, it was just as anti-American as the unfair fake literature used by the republicans in Maryland to defeat Tydings. And bringing anti-Catholicism

In Step With the Sower

By ARCH DONOVAN

THE PERFECT SQUEAL! Sen. Earl Lee of Fremont was in rare form this week during a legislative session. In fact, as they say down on the farm, he was feeling his oats.

He had just "talked a bill to death," according to his opponents. During the lull, as the lawmakers prepared for the next order of business, the Dodge county barrister arose. Arch Donovan

"During the hiatus," he began, and then, turning to Sen. C. C. Lillibridge of Crete, said in an aside, "That's a good word."

Aided by the Sower, who had to have something to fill this space, a dictionary was requisitioned and it was found that hiatus means "empty space; something that needs to be filled."

The Crete question arose with a request to question Sen. Lee and, after giving the definition, inquired:

"Senator, what in the legislature needs to be filled?" "I do not want to be personal, Senator," Lee responded quick as a flash, glancing at Sen. Lillibridge's empty chair.

Ain't the Sower lucky that he tells about it afterward rather than asking the questions?

ONCE UPON A TIME!

There was a senator, who laughed gleefully, even uproariously, when he could play a practical joke upon fellow members or legislative personnel. It has been given and taken since the session opened. Unlike the usual practical joker, he can "take it" as well as "dish it out."

Shortly before adjournment one day this week the senator was summoned to the telephone. A feminine voice inquired: "When are you coming up to the house, dearie?"

"Who is this?" the shocked senator inquired.

"Come up and see," the femi-out in the open is not going to help Taft's presidential chances. Thanks, however, to the kick which Taft gave a lady, the senator from Ohio is now going to be investigated by Mrs. Smith's new committee.

NOTE — Another senate probe which started with a flourish is now gathering dust, thanks to Sen. Guy Gillette of Iowa. Gillette's investigators unearthed some strange evidence regarding Lt. Gov. Joe Hanley of New York, indicating that he had no debts in Iowa, though he worked a deal with Governor Dewey last year for the avowed purpose of paying off his debts. For some strange reason Gillette has now blown cold on the New York election probe.

—TEMPTATION TO REDS—

Most dangerous fact about the present international situation is that four important countries now face elections. This is probably a greater temptation to the Soviet to strike than all other political considerations combined.

The countries facing major elections are: England, certain to stage an election in the fall; France, due for general elections this summer; Italy, which has important municipal elections this year; and of course the U. S. A., which is already warming up for the great four-year political tug of war to see who will be the next president of the United States.

Chief difficulty with elections is their effect on international relations. The British labor government, for instance, cannot support our position regarding communist China without getting a deluge of criticism from a powerful and quite vocal section of voters.

The French government cannot spend too much on its budget for European rearmament without risking defeat at the polls.

Meanwhile, in the United States, the MacArthur debate has already become a political row, closely linked with the 1952 presidential race.

—STRONG STATEMENTS—

Sen. Wayne Morse's most recent statement denouncing General MacArthur, despite the fact that most of his fellow republicans take the opposite view, came after some interesting probing of U. S. public opinion.

The Oregon senator went up to normally republican Minnesota a short time ago to address a midwest conference of Young Republican clubs. There he made some strong statements about MacArthur.

"Our party," Morse told his fellow republicans, "can snatch defeat from the jaws of victory by following MacArthur and involving the United States in an all-out war with China without allies."

"If we must fight to preserve our liberties," Morse continued, "we should fight at the time and place selected by us, not by the enemy."

"The other issue," Morse said, "is whether civilians or the military shall guide the destinies of our foreign policy. We can look south to Argentina to see what happens when a military dictatorship takes over."

Judging from the applause, Senator Morse decided that there was considerable GOP support for his stand against MacArthur.

A Thought for the Sabbath

Stories of Famous Hymns . . .

By HORACE B. POWELL

Where Cross The Crowded Ways Of Life

Where cross the crowded ways of life,
Where sound the cries of race and clan,
Above the noise of selfish strife,
We hear Thy voice, O Son of man!

In haunts of wretchedness and need,
On shadowed thresholds dark with fears,
From paths where hide the lures of greed,
We catch the vision of Thy tears.

The cup of water given for Thee
Still holds the freshness of Thy grace;
Yet long these multitudes to see
The sweet compassion of Thy face.

O Master, from the mountain side,
Make haste to heal these hearts of pain,
Among these restless throngs abide,
O tread the city's streets again.

Till sons of men shall earn Thy love
And follow where Thy feet have trod;
Till glorious from Thy heaven above
Shall come the city of our God.

If you had lived in New York 60 or 70 years ago you would have heard a good deal of the Rev. Frank Mason North.

When he was graduated from Wesleyan university and ordained, in 1872 he went at once to the city to begin his ministry. In the years that followed he served as pastor of several prominent Methodist churches, and became widely known for his preaching.

But there were times, much as he loved his pulpit, when the preacher-poet used to steal away to the heart of the city to watch the crowds hurrying by at the busiest intersections. The men and women, coming and going by the thousands, fascinated him. He stood for hours, peering into the faces of those who passed by, trying to read in their expressions the stories of their lives, their joys and sorrows, their hopes, their goals, and their disappointments and heartaches. He once said:

"I spent days and weeks and years in close contact with every phase of the life of the multitudes, and at the morning, noon and evening hours was familiar with the tragedy—as it always seemed to me—of the justling, moving currents of life at great crossings of the avenues. I have watched them by the hour as they passed by tens of thousands."

MORE DOGS

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of the Lincoln Star: I should like to comment on the dog problem. In the spring people have their gardens and strawberry patches, and the dogs run over them and make paths through them, but we must not complain, since the dogs must have their freedom even if they destroy everything that the working class of people try to raise. Our neighborhood is full of dogs of all sizes—some licensed and some not. We have called about them, but it doesn't seem to do any good.

A LONG-TIME READER

TWO WORLDS

Lincoln, Neb.

Just the other day I climbed way up in a tree and perched up on a lofty branch, The countryside to see.

The wind was blowing gently,
It whistled through my hair,
And as I gazed down on the world
I had not a single care.

Far, far down below me
Distinct houses stood,
Fields like tiny patches
And here and there, a wood.

And as I watched the people
Busily scurrying to and fro,
There seemed to be two worlds—
Mine, and the one below.

TOM FISHER.

THANKS FROM SHRINERS

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of the Lincoln Star: As chairman of the Sesostri Temple Shrine publicity committee, I wish to thank you in behalf of Orion E. Jerneer and all of the officers of Sesostri Temple for the very fine support that we received from your newspaper during our recent spring ceremonial. The pictures of our principal officers and the news items that you printed were, we believe, news to a lot more people than just the Shriners. We are sure that all Shriners in this locality would like to join us in our expression of appreciation.

DOUBLE TALK

Nebraska City, Neb.

To the editor of the Lincoln Star: A letter in The Star of May 1 from Al Misegadis, of Talmage, Nebraska, sets forth his views on how he'd win the war in the Far East if he were president! He says, "Why antagonize our friends? We should not fight a war in China proper. Nearly 80 per cent of the Chinese are our friends. General MacArthur's Chinese policy was and still is wrong." Well, that is just exactly what millions of us have been trying to say for a long time.

But just for hate and spite, millions of the republican Truman and Acheson haters jumped on the MacArthur bandwagon and have done everything in their power to undermine the safety of this country by any means possible.

They've done everything to alienate our allies and friends all over the world by trying to

It was this interest of his in the life of the great city that inspired his hymn "Where Cross The Crowded Ways Of Life." He wrote it in 1905, responding to a call for a modern missionary hymn from members of a Methodist committee who were preparing a new hymnal. Recalling the hymn-writing episode years later, he said:

"I wrote what was in my thought and feeling . . . That it has found its way into so many of the other modern hymnals, and by translations into so many other languages is significant not because it shows the quality of the hymn itself but because it is an expression of the tremendous movement of the soul of the gospel in our times, which demands that the follower of Christ must make the interest of the people his own and must find the heart of the world's need if he is in any way to represent his Master among men."

The Warfare Breaks Out Between Israel And Syria

Cease-Fire Agreement Soon Broken

Both Sides Accuse Other Of Renewing Battle Of Jordan

TEL AVIV, Israel—(AP)—A United Nations-sponsored cease-fire agreement, halted only briefly Friday, the battle of the Jordan as Israel and Syria renewed fighting north of the Sea of Galilee.

An Israeli spokesman charged the Syrians had attacked Israeli territory at 5 p.m. Greenwich time (11 a.m. CST), only three and a half hours after the cease-fire had gone into effect. He said the attack had been repulsed with heavy losses to the Syrians.

In Damascus, Syria, Friday night's military communiqué accused the Israelis of having broken the cease-fire at 1 p.m. Greenwich time, by opening heavy artillery and mortar fire and attacking Arabs in the demilitarized border zone.

Claim Attack Repelled
The communiqué said the Syrians repelled the attack by force, inflicting heavy losses on the Israelis. The Syrians said they had only one casualty.

Latest dispatches received Friday night from the fighting area said a grim battle was still in progress. Heavy explosions were heard over a wide sector.

The Israeli spokesman said the fighting was renewed when the Syrians made their third attempt of the day to capture the height of Tel Al Mutella, on the north shore of the Sea of Galilee, and about two-thirds of a mile inside Israeli territory.

Clash Not Expected
News of the latest clash reached Tel Aviv as Col. Bennet de Ridder, acting chief-of-staff of the U.N. observers in Palestine, was conferring with Israeli Foreign Minister Moshe Sharett.

The fighting flared up Wednesday where the Jordan river flows into the Sea of Galilee and spread north to the Huleh swamps.

The Syrians have repeatedly charged Israel with violating the armistice which ended the Palestine war in 1948 by insisting on carrying out a vast draining and rehabilitation project in the Huleh swamps.

Behring Estate—The will of William E. Behring, who died April 24, bequeaths his entire estate to his widow, Mrs. Alma J. Behring. The will was filed for probate in County court.

Clark New Head Recreation Board

The Lincoln Recreation board elected B. G. Clark as chairman to succeed Thomas R. Pansing.

Clark has been a member of the board for seven years. He is treasurer of the Union Fire Insurance company and a member of the city traffic commission.

Max E. Roper was re-elected vice-chairman of the board and Mrs. Fred R. Easterday was re-elected secretary. Pansing leaves the board since he was the city council representative on that body and did not run for reelection to the council.

Mayor Victor E. Anderson and members of the board had been anxious for Pansing to remain as chairman or at least a board member but Pansing has declined. He has been on the board and its chairman for four years.

Plans R.E.A. School In Omaha
Plans for a four-day school at Omaha June 4-5-6-7 were laid here Friday at a meeting of the power and education committee of the state association of R.E.A.'s.

Harpham Bldg. Rented By Nordens

The Norden Laboratories, 227 North Ninth street, have rented the building now occupied by the Harpham Brothers company at 801 P street.

Dr. Carl J. Norden, president, said the interior of the building will be remodeled and used primarily for manufacturing and shipping in an expansion of the business.

One of Lincoln's oldest manufacturing and wholesale firms, Harpham Brothers will move to a building at 816 P street.

The Norden Laboratories, a veterinary products firm, produce bacterins and pharmaceuticals. It jobs such items as antibiotics and veterinary instruments.

Dr. Carl Norden, a graduate of the Kansas City School of Veterinary Medicine, founded the business in Lincoln in 1919 and the corporation in 1927.

The company has occupied a portion of the Harpham building, in addition to its main building on North Ninth, for some time. Within 90 days they will occupy the entire Harpham building.

James H. Harpham, son of J. C. Harpham, one of the founders of the Harpham company, is now president. The Harpham company was founded about 63 years ago as the firm of Harpham and Gustin and has been in its present location for about 47 years. The company manufactures saddles, harness and all types of riding equipment.

Some of the company's employees have been making saddles for Harpham Brothers for 35 or 40 years. During the first World War, Harpham Brothers filled important government contracts. Some of the items manufactured were machine gun harnesses, pistol holsters, rifle scabbards and gun slings.

Future plans of the Norden Laboratories call for a new modernistic plant located on a 137-acre building site two miles northwest of the Lincoln post-office.

Builders Impatient Over Uncertainty Of Base Activation

Lincoln builders, according to Mayor Victor E. Anderson, are becoming impatient over the uncertainty of the proposed reactivation of the city's airbase.

The builders have planned on the construction of enough housing to meet the needs of reactivation, said the mayor, and they are entitled to have a decision in the matter very soon.

The air force has indicated there would be from 4,000 to 7,500 personnel at the base when it is reactivated. About 15 percent of them would be officers requiring housing in the city.

Meanwhile, the city legal and engineering departments are furnishing data to the air force on the present use of the airport and the government's rights of re-entry. The information was requested at a recent meeting of city officials and air force representatives.

Jacob Sell, 94, Lincoln resident for 49 years, died Friday at a local hospital. His home was at 1011 South Sixth street.

Mr. Sell first came to the United States from Russia, his birthplace, in 1893. After staying here for two years, he returned to Russia. In 1902 he came back to the U. S. and directly to Lincoln.

A charter member of the Lutheran church, Mr. Sell worked for the gas company and was also a plumber.

Survivors include his wife, Mary; three step-daughters, Mrs. Alex Meyer of Waverly, Ia., Mrs. John Eckert of Toledo, O., and Mrs. Emil Dackner of Lincoln; two step-sons, Jacob Gies of Topeka, Kans., and Fred Gies of Lincoln, and a brother, Casper Sell of Lincoln.

Liquor License Is Denied Carlton Man

The state liquor commission Friday denied a liquor license to Fred Burton, Carleton, overruling the recommendation of the village board.

City Lacks Money For Park Meters

City Finance director Theo Berg has stated there is no money available which could be used to pay cash for the 350 parking meters the city is buying.

The $18,000 needed to grant city employees a raise, he said, had to be borrowed so there is hardly no place where the city could get $20,000 for parking meters.

It had been proposed that the city consider paying cash for the meters to gain a 5 per cent discount. If the usual procedure is followed now, the meters will be paid for with one-half of their total receipts.

Berg has reported meter receipts for the month of April of $8,169.93 on 1,050 meters in operation. The figure is slightly under $8 per meter, which would get $20,000 for parking meters.

Two Garment Thefts
Joe Hill, 2202 U, told police Friday that, while he was at work on a new house on Thirtieth between Washington and a billfold containing $12.60.

He had hung the overalls in a garage next to the house earlier Friday morning.

Mrs. M. L. McCrory, 412 South Sixteenth, also reported a garment theft.

Thursday night someone took a pair of grey trousers, some jeans and a knit shirt from the McCrory clothesline. They were valued at a total of about $10.

Court Upholds Railroad's Changes In Lincoln-Table Rock Schedules

The state supreme court Friday upheld the Burlington railroad's recent re-arrangement of passenger train schedules between Lincoln and Table Rock.

"Each city and town involved will be served by modern passenger trains daily, including Sunday, both to and from Lincoln via Wymore to Table Rock, and to and from Lincoln via Tecumseh to Table Rock," the court stated.

One effect of the changes was to route "main line" trains between Lincoln and Kansas City through Table Rock. But some runs which the railroad claimed were unprofitable were eliminated.

The court said: "The record discloses that the entire area to be served by such trains is interlaced by gravel, black top or paved county, state or federal highways, and that all cities and towns involved, except five, were also served by common carrier daily bus service, which services were used by substantially more people than passenger trains on parallel routes."

"It does appear that a few people in at least four of the 23 cities and towns will suffer some inconvenience from the change of operation, but while that is a factor to be considered, it is not controlling because other adequate passenger train service is provided . . . and however trains are operated on every line, some people would likewise suffer some inconvenience."

The court ruled that the state railway commission had authority to authorize the changes.

The changes were opposed by the League of Nebraska Municipalities, which appealed from the railway commission ruling.

Funeral Directors Rename Gahn Head

$200,000 Courthouse Dedicated At Beaver City

BEAVER CITY, Neb. (AP)—An estimated 2,000 persons were on hand Friday afternoon for the dedication of Furnas county's new $200,000 courthouse.

John Lautner, Omaha architect who drew the plans for the structure, presented the building to George W. Minnick of Cambridge, chairman of the board of county commissioners.

Lautner told the crowd assembled that the building was constructed exactly along lines of the plans he drew. He said it would "let the building speak for itself." It then was opened for public inspection.

Perry Recalls History
E. B. Perry of Lincoln, former judge of the 14th judicial district, recalled the early history of Furnas county. He told of incidents in both his life and that of his father while living here.

B. F. Butler of Cambridge served as master of ceremonies. Others participating in the program were Rev. Robert Collins of Cambridge and George R. Mitchell of Oxford.

The dedication ceremonies included a parade in which high school bands from Cambridge, Arapahoe, Holbrook, Edison and Beaver City took part.

The new building replacing one constructed in 1888. Following a blizzard in November of 1948, a deputy state fire marshal inspected the old structure and declared it unsafe for occupancy.

The state fire marshal subsequently ordered the courthouse vacated and demolished. Temporary offices were obtained in various Beaver City business buildings.

Soviet Expresses 'Regret' At U. S. Soldier's Death

Joint Probe Acceptable To Russians

Statement Follows American Protest

VIENNA, Austria—(AP)—Soviet authorities expressed regret Friday night at the death of a U. S. military policeman from Russian machine pistol bullets and agreed to join the Americans in an investigation.

Cpl. Paul Gressens, 28, of Rochester, N. Y., was killed in a street of the city's international sector early Friday after he and his partner, Cpl. Jack Morgan, 23, of Keokuk, Ia., challenged two Russian soldiers bearing arms.

U. S. high commissioner Walter J. Donnelly, who protested to American authorities, announced: Only One Fired

The American investigation tended to indicate that only one of the two Russian soldiers had fired at the MPs. The shooting started when the two pairs were only 10 or 20 feet apart.

Gressens dropped with nine bullets in his stomach.

Another bullet wounded a passing Austrian in the arm.

Morgan fired six shots from his 45 caliber pistol at the Russians, but they escaped on foot into the Soviet sector.

Making Routine Check

The MPs had just emerged from the Oriental cafe, a night club featuring semi-nude dancers, where they made a routine check for soldiers who might be out without proper passes.

The exact cause of the shooting remained to be explained.

Police officials said any soldiers on duty have the right to carry arms in the international sector under four-power agreements. The Russians may have been on patrol around a Soviet-occupied building near the night club.

The military police detail in the sector shifts monthly. The Americans took over from the Russians Monday.

Plan Student Nurse Day For Sunday

As a tribute to the nursing profession and to stimulate more public interest in that field Sunday, May 6, has been proclaimed American Student Nurse Day.

Miss Ethel M. Shaw, chairman of the student nurse recruitment committee for Lincoln, has urged all student nurses in Lincoln's three hospital schools to attend the church of their choice on Sunday. Attendance will be made in uniforms and all pastors have been asked to pay recognition to the profession in their sermons.

Student Nurse Sunday will launch National Hospital Week from May 7 to 11. That week will end with National Hospital Day on May 12.

Stress Recruiting

One of the main points of emphasis, said Miss Shaw, will be the recruiting of more nurses. The national emergency has called many nurses into the armed forces, she said, and left a shortage at home at a time when the profession is being called upon to meet the added demands of an increased population.

Courses begin in the three Lincoln nursing schools in September, she said, but prospective students are urged to make application immediately. It takes several months, she said, for an application to be processed.

While paying tribute to those organizations which have helped the profession considerably, Miss Shaw stated that the need is acute for more scholarships and awards for students. All too few, she added, are given now.

On the committee with Miss Shaw are Miss Mabel Johnson, director of nursing at Bryan Memorial hospital, and Miss Elizabeth Keegan, associate director of nursing at St. Elizabeth hospital.

Reclamation Bills Are Advanced

Amendments Will Require People's Vote Before Bonds Issued

The legislature before adjourning over the week end advanced L.B. 329 and 420 dealing with reclamation problems but not until after an amendment had been made to L.B. 329 requiring that a vote of the people be held before districts can issue revenue bonds.

At time of passage of the reclamation act, sponsors of the bill assured the legislature that bonds could not be issued without a vote. The same provision still held with general obligation bonds, but it was proposed in the original L.B. 329 that directors could issue revenue bonds. This was amended to require a vote.

Chairman Otto Probs of the public works committee, which held hearings on the bill, offered the amendment and said it was satisfactory to former Sen. Walter Raecke of Central City who introduced the reclamation act. Prompt acceptance followed the statement.

Raecke appeared at the committee hearing in opposition to that section of the bill recalling that at time of passage he and other senators had assured the legislature that rights of the people of the district to approve bonds had been protected.

The revenue bonds if approved by the people would be retired with income from sale of power, water and benefits.

May Pole Dances Begin Celebration

May Queen Jean Ellen Hill, Lincoln senior, and Student Prince Robert Paul Gentry, Gering junior, reigned over May Day festivities at Nebraska Wesleyan university Friday.

The royal couple, chosen as representative students by a vote of the entire student body, remained unidentified until the traditional May Day procession wound its way through the campus to the twin thrones situated in colorful setting in front of the administration building.

Pages Chandra Eckles of Gresham and Kathleen Ackles of Lincoln, heralded the approach of the royal couple, trailed by crownbearers, sceptre bearers and flower girls.

Senior girls formed the ivy chain, junior girls the daisy chain, and class attendants, also chosen by popular vote, accompanied the queen and prince.

Tapping of new members into Cardinal Key and Blue Key, men's and women's national honoraries, was one high spot of the afternoon's activities, as was announcement of winner of the annual Woman's Athletic association poetry award.

Fraternities and sororities competed in the traditional interfraternity-sorority sings later in the afternoon.

May Pole Dance

Another afternoon feature was the May Pole dance preceding the procession, staged by 12 freshman girls accompanied by Bobby Grundman, Nebraska City sophomore, and directed by Miss Elizabeth Buie, director of Women's physical education.

James R. Munkres Winner Of Poetry Award At Wesleyan

James Raymond Munkres, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Munkres of Broadwater, Friday was revealed as winner of the fourth annual Woman's Athletic association poetry award at Nebraska Wesleyan university.

Munkres, a senior, read his poem, "Shades of Gray," as a high spot in the annual May Day festivities on the campus.

A high ranking scholar throughout his four years at Wesleyan, he is a member of Barbs, Alpha Gamma Beta, band, chorus, Kappa Kappa Psi, opera, Phi Kappa Phi, Plainsman players, Sigma Pi Sigma, string ensemble, the Wesleyan staff and is active in Y.M.C.A.

His winning poem: "SHADES OF GRAY" Why should it be that mortals render Judgments. Evermore in terms of absolutes. Like good or bad and right or wrong. Alone? Life weaves two tapestries from varied yarns. Of human virtues, frailties, strengths and faults. Ignorance beholds these different cloths: Adjudges one as black as ebony night. The other, pale as starlight and as pure. But Learning ponders each more closely, finding. Midst the dark warp, threads of clear-cut white. And through the lighter fabric, strands of black. Until at last he sees both motley hues As matching shades of gray, and judgment falls. Then Wisdom looks with clearer, keener eye. Employs his power to differentiate. Between the lighter and the murkier tints; But even Wisdom sometimes cannot. Judge. Which is the lighter, which the darker, 'Tis then that Faith must stand, steadfast, alone. To choose—where intellect has gone astray. A man never calls ideas, actions, deeds, completely good, completely bad. For each of them is gray; for black and white. Belong alone to youths, fanatics, fools.

Army's Draft Call For June Only 20,000

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The army issued a new low number in draft calls Friday—20,000 men in June.

At the same time the air force said it would add more than 40,000 women by June, 1952.

The army's June call was the lowest number in a monthly call since the draft was resumed last fall.

Some 550,000 men have been drafted or placed on army call since then. In each of the first three months this year, the army got 80,000 men. The April draft was 40,000 and the May quota 40,000.

Officials said the reductions were due to large scale volunteering and to fewer Korean war casualties than had been expected.

The women's air force strength will be raised to about 48,000 under the new order. The force will include about 4,000 officers.

YOU KNOW Skylark IS FRESH, BECAUSE IT'S DATED FRESH EVERY DAY!

LOOK FOR THIS DATE... it's your proof that Skylark is first-day fresh

HERE'S WHY WE DATE SKYLARK: It's your proof, your guarantee that your loaf of Skylark was freshly baked for today. Most other brands do not carry this proof. Always buy Skylark, in the red and white, candy-striped wrapper. You always know that Skylark is first-day fresh!

Each day's sale of Skylark is carefully estimated in advance. Then, Skylark's expert bakers mix all the fine ingredients, then pop the baking pans into the oven. Finally, as each toasty-brown loaf comes out, it is wax wrapped and sealed with a special end seal.

This end seal carries the day, Monday, or Tuesday, and so on. Then the loaves are rushed to your Safeway Store, just in time for sale. If there should be any unsold dated bread at the end of the day, it is removed—never again sold as fresh bread. No guesswork with Skylark—you know it's first-day fresh!

Buy Skylark BREAD DATED FRESH EVERY DAY!

at SAFEWAY

Guaranteed
YOUR MONEY BACK IF SKYLARK ISN'T THE FINEST BREAD YOU'VE EVER EATEN

Not only do we guarantee that SKYLARK is fresh every day, but we guarantee you can't buy a better bread. If, for any reason, you are not satisfied with SKYLARK bread, we ask you to drop into any Safeway store and your money will be refunded immediately and without question.

The Bride Book

By Mary Aitken Greer

Probably the best part of the wedding gift is the excelsior. When the present is opened the forever healthy strands of wood fly up to the face of the bride, and proceed to coat the house. This delights the bride, groom and both families, because it is a constant reminder that somewhere in the house there is a present represented by every 1,000 pieces of excelsior.

Because of this excelsior the bride and groom do not know what they received until after their honeymoon. It is a joy for them to return and find no one had touched a thing, except the excelsior which touches everything. Thus the newlyweds spend the next two years sorting presents from the shreds.

It is just a shame that the ancients did not know of this ingenious device—excelsior. But man was quick to catch on—for in past times of Greece the bride and groom spent their time sorting money from bread dough. The bread for the wedding feast was made in the public square—and friends threw money for the bride and groom into the batter. And in Cyprus the bride couple sorted money from mattress feathers. On this island friends of the bride and groom filled a mattress in public, and included their little presents for the couple.

Behind all this sorting is a tradition which has lasted the centuries—the wedding gift. The first wedding presents were love pledges, and were considered to be an actual part of the giver. And excelsior or no, the wedding gift tradition has retained a meaningful sentiment.

Notes On A Week-end

THE WEEK-END ACTIVITY grows—and grows, as guests arrive, parties are planned, and the news comes pouring in—

AND THERE'S A LITTLE BEAUTY, too—if you should happen to drive past the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arnett Folsom at 3315 West Pershing road this week-end—be sure to look at their blossoming Hopsa crab trees. Their name—Hopsa—is from the Sioux language, meaning "beautiful"—and they are MISS JEAN MANN and her fiancé, Richard Noble, will be honored Saturday evening when Mr. and Mrs. William Hansen will be host and hostess for a family dinner at their home.

UNDERSTAND THAT Mrs. Eric Kneen of Milwaukee, Wis., formerly of Lincoln, has just arrived and also is the incentive for numerous informal affairs—Mrs. Kneen, the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Donaldson, will be honored on Monday when Mrs. Carl Georgi will entertain at luncheon at her home. The guest eightsome will include the members of a bridge club to which Mrs. Kneen formerly belonged—and the after luncheon hours will be devoted to bridge.

ON TUESDAY Mrs. Robert Goss and Mrs. D. W. Dyringer will compliment Mrs. Kneen when they entertain a small group of guests at luncheon at the University club.

TWO BRIDES-TO-BE and their fiancés will share honors at a family breakfast for which Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Martin will be host and hostess on Sunday morning at their home. The foursome of honorees include Miss Barbara Yeager, whose marriage to Wayne Eisenhart will be an event of June 9, and Miss Marilyn Nelson, whose marriage to Jack Yeager will take place on Sunday, May 27, at Minden.

AND SPEAKING OF brides—Miss Audrey Jean Wallace of Chicago, whose marriage to Donald Gordon Smock will take place Saturday, May 26, in Chicago, will be arriving in Lincoln today to spend a week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Wallace. Also arriving to spend a week as the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace, will be their daughter's fiancé.

BUT ON TO MORE courtesies—Thursday evening Dean and Mrs. Arthur Westbrook were a dinner host and hostess at their home when they entertained in honor of Mrs. Maurice Poaster of Enid, Okla., and Dayton Smith of the University of Florida, who are to sing leading roles in the University of Nebraska's presentation of "Aida" on Sunday, May 6.

SOMEONE TOLD US that Captain Clinton Kimsey planned in early this week to take Mrs. Kimsey (the former Jean Moyer Wilson), back to Spokane, Wash., where the army officer is stationed at the Fairchild air base.

MORE NEWS OF the Moyer family has to do with the arrival of Barbara Jo Cleveland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Cleveland (JoAnn Moyer) of Omaha on Wednesday, May 2, at Immanuel hospital in Omaha.

THE BASSINET CLUB also had a communique from Des Moines, Ia., announcing the birth of Miss Ann Garver Loeffel on Saturday, April 28. The young lady's parents are Mr. and Mrs. William C. Loeffel, and her mother is the former Carol Garver, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Garver of Lincoln. Her paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. William J. Loeffel, also of Lincoln.

HAVE A LITTLE rumor about some new neighbors—Heard around and about that Mr. and Mrs. Mark Seacrest had purchased the home of the late C. J. Guenzel at 2244 Harrison.

JUST HEARD, TOO, that Mrs. E. A. Baldwin of Riverside, Cal., formerly of Lincoln, will be arriving Sunday for a visit with her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Benjamin—It seems that Mrs. Baldwin, a daughter Miss Beverly Baldwin, a student at UCLA, and a son, Jay, in high school, were unable to accompany Mrs. Baldwin to Lincoln for her month's stay.

SOMEONE TOLD US that Mrs. John E. Backstrom, district alumnae chairman for Alpha Chi Omega sorority, left Friday afternoon for Des Moines and Indianola, Ia., to participate in the Iowa Alpha Chi Omega state day at Indianola on Saturday. Mrs. Backstrom will direct the workshop conference, and also will be a speaker at the state day luncheon.

ON THE CALENDAR for Saturday evening is the dessert supper and shower for which Mrs. Warren Baller and Mrs. D. A. Worcester will be hostesses at the home of Mrs. Baller when they honor Mrs. William Hall and Mrs. Charles Neidt. Thirty guests have been invited.

JUST THIS MOMENT heard that Mr. and Mrs. Harry Proulx will be taking off next week for Phoenix, Ariz., on a combined business and pleasure trip—While there, of course, they will see Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Powell (Marian Farrens), and Mrs. Powell's mother, Mrs. Arthur Edgren.

ALTHOUGH Mrs. James Pelley, who eventually will accompany Mr. Pelley and their family to Oxford, O., where they will reside, does not leave for several weeks, farewell courtesies already have begun.

On Thursday evening Mrs. Walter Beggs and Mrs. Kenneth Freeman were hostesses in Mrs. Pelley's honor at the home of Mrs. Beggs. Twenty guests were invited for an evening of bridge.

A FLASH FROM Lincoln General hospital tells us that Kappa Kappa Gamma members had better be polishing up a key for a future pledge—She arrived at Lincoln General on Friday, May 4, and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Fenton. Mrs. Fenton is the former Harriett Pugsley, daughter of Mrs. Anna Pugsley of Genoa, and Miss Fenton's paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Fenton of Lincoln.

Coach Harry Good announced that three officials will be used in the game. An official will be used at each side of the court and the other under the basket.

"This system was tried at the Bradley campus tournament at Bradley University this year," Coach Good stated, "and was found to be very successful."

Officials for the game are Herman Rohrig, Clair Sloan and Charles Worrall.
 Latest addition to the Alumni squad is Dick Schleiger, former Husker center from Omaha.
 This brings to nine the number of Alumni players who will be in Lincoln for the game. Bus Whitehead, Bob Pierce, Paul Kipper, Bob Gates, Henry Cech, Tony Lawry, Neal Mosser and Don McArthur already are in the fold.
 In Jim Buchanan, Joe Good and Bob Mercer, the Varsity has three returning lettermen. Buchanan and Good finished second and third in Husker scoring last season.

OMAHA — (AP) — Dick Geier pitched no-hit ball until the sixth inning as Lincoln blanked Omaha Holy Name 4-0 in a high school baseball game.
 Lincoln scored in the first when Joe Carter lived on Bob Daley's error, stole second and scored on C. W. Perry's single.
 In the fifth Bernie Miller hit Stan Ebner, Geier singled, both advanced on Carter's ground out and both scored when Gene Ciani booted Perry's grounder.
 The final Lincoln tally in the seventh came as Geier and Bob Barnett singled, Carter forced Geier at third and Barnett scored on Perry's single.

Sai Maglie Hurls One Hitter As Giants Win

NEW YORK. (AP)—Pittsburgh's Pete Castiglione tripled to start the game but after that Sai Maglie halted the Pirates without a hit as he paced the New York Giants to a 5-1 victory Friday.

Only a slim crowd of 3,947 paying customers were in the Polo Grounds to watch the 34-year-old righthander spin the major league's second one-hitter of the young season. Washington's Connie Marrero pitched the other one against the Philadelphia's on April 26.

The Giants broke out in a rash of four homers to back Maglie's superb hurling, which stopped a four-game Pittsburgh winning streak.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Speakers Study Braille

MINNEAPOLIS—(AP)—Harriette Hoyt is an ex-WAAF who spends her spare time teaching more than a dozen Minneapolis men and women to "see with their hands." But, neither the teacher nor the pupils learning to master Braille, is blind.

Most of them are ambitious businessmen who would rather look at their audience, when giving routine talks, than have their heads burrowed in notes. One pupil is a television actor who wants to maintain "eye" contact. Another is a woman who gives book reviews for local women's clubs and doesn't like to memorize or read long passages. They all hope to solve their problems by using Braille. The sideline career began before the war when Harriette, who helps calibrate controls at the Minneapolis-Honeywell Co., here was assigned to speak before youth groups. She balked at the practice of using notes, which she felt distracted her from her remarks, so she mastered Braille.

The Japanese proclaimed the puppet state of Manchukuo in 1932.
